Spendless Shoes Chooses AURES POS Terminals for Stylish, Powerful, and Hassle-Free Operations

Spendless Shoes, a leading footwear retailer, has chosen to partner with AURES to enhance its in-store operations across its nationwide network of stores.

The chosen POS terminal is the AURES YUNO II, the latest version of the number one selling YUNO that offers a modular design for ease of service, latest 11th Generations processors, and a sleek design.

The decision to choose the AURES YUNO II terminals was based on several factors, including the units' stylish design, powerful performance, and the availability of an Australia-wide network of service contractors for onsite installation and ongoing maintenance.

"At Spendless Shoes, we are committed to providing our customers with a seamless and enjoyable shopping experience," said Duane Kehoe, Spendless IT Manager. "Our partnership with AURES will allow us to achieve this goal by streamlining our in-store operations with powerful and stylish POS terminals that are backed by a reliable network of service contractors."

AURES POS terminals have been known to deliver unmatched performance, reliability, and style. The terminals come in a variety of sleek and modern designs that blend seamlessly with the aesthetics of any store.

"This provides a modern and user-friendly solution for our team members, enabling store team members to provide a high level of service to our customers, while also allowing for improved maintenance, ensuring POS availability targets are met by support team members. We are nearing completion of our POS software replacement project and need to ensure we have the right hardware in place to professionally deliver the capability required to make this implementation a success and support the continued growth and success of Spendless Shoes. We want to call out how AURES will improve the experience for our team members not just our customers."

"We are delighted to partner with Spendless Shoes and provide them with our state-of-the-art POS solutions," said AURES General Manager, Phillip Wild. "Our terminals are proving to be the choice of many retailers across Australia which is testament to the quality of our solutions and services."

Spendless Shoes is committed to delivering the best possible customer experience, and their decision to partner with AURES demonstrates their commitment to achieving this goal. With the powerful and stylish POS terminals from AURES, Spendless Shoes can enhance their in-store operations, streamline their checkout process, and provide their customers with a seamless and enjoyable shopping experience.
